

Dr. Nusrat Chowdhury

Nusrat S. Chowdhury is a political anthropologist interested in questions of popular sovereignty, political affect, language, and developmental democracy. Her first book, Paradoxes of the Popular: Crowd Politics in Bangladesh (2019) is an ethnography of the crowd. She received her PhD in Anthropology from the University of Chicago and was a Member at Institute for Advanced Study in Princeton during 2020-21. She is currently working on a second book exploring the role and ruse of language in relation to postcolonial development. During 2020-23, she is serving as an elected member of the South Asia Council of the Association for Asian Studies.

Department of Anthropology and Sociology
Amherst College
101 Morgan Hall
165 South Pleasant Street
Amherst, MA 01002
nchowdhury@amherst.edu
<https://www.amherst.edu/people/facstaff/nchowdhury>